Police kiosk springs up near Palace

Red-blue structure flouts heritage building norms, say experts

The Police Mahithi Kendra (Police Information Centre) built by Devaraja Police near Mysore Palace North Gate.

Mysuru, Nov. 6 (MTY&BCT)- The Mysuru City Police have begun erecting concrete-based Police Information Kiosks at select locations in city, including the North Gate of Mysore Palace and near Ramaswamy Circle.

However, the newly constructed kiosk near the Kote Anjaneyaswamy Temple at the Balarama Gate of Mysore Palace, has sparked criticism from heritage experts who allege that it blatantly violates established heritage conservation norms.

As per heritage regulations, no construction is permitted within 100 metres of a protected monument without prior approval from the District Heritage Committee.

The controversial structure — a Police Mahithi Kendra (Police Information Centre) built by the Devaraja Police — stands on a concrete platform painted in bright red, blue and white, featuring a flashy commercial advertisement that clashes with the heritage aesthetics of the area.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Retired Professor of Ancient History and Archaeology at the University of Mysore and District Heritage Committee Member, Prof. N.S. Rangaraju strongly criticised the construction, calling it a violation that mars the beauty, character and openness of the Palace precincts. He has demanded the immediate removal of the kiosk.

Unauthorised public assemblies

HC Bench bins State appeal

Bengaluru, Nov. 6 (Agencies)- In a setback to the State Government, a Division Bench of the Karnataka High Court this morning declined to lift the stay on a Government Order (GO) that restricts unauthorised assemblies of more than 10 people in public spaces such as roads, parks and playgrounds. The Court has dismissed the State's petition.

The Court was hearing the case State of Karnataka Vs Punashchethana Seva Samaste and others.

The Bench, comprising Justice S.G. Pandit and Justice K.B. Geetha, refused to interfere with interim stay earlier granted by a Single-Judge Bench and directed the State to approach the same Judge with its plea to vacate the order.

"It is open for the appellants to file an application for vacating the interim order," the Division Bench observed while dismissing the State's appeal. The original stay was issued on Oct. 28 by Justice M. Nagaprasanna, following a petition that contended the GO infringed upon the fundamental right to peaceful assembly.

Justice Nagaprasanna noted that though the GO was aimed at curbing unauthorised use of public property, it prima facie infringed upon the fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution of India, particularly the freedom of speech and expression and the freedom to assemble peacefully.

Tea break proves costly for auto driver

Mysuru, Nov. 6 (RK & BCT)- In a swift theft, an autorickshaw was stolen within minutes while its driver stepped away for a cup of tea near the Mysuru Sub-Urban Bus Stand last week.

Ravi, a resident of Kurimandi near Kesare, had parked his rented autorickshaw near a lodge on Keshava Iyengar Road around 10.15 pm on Oct. 27.

He walked to a nearby hotel for tea, only to return and find his vehicle missing. The theft occurred in a span of just 10 minutes. Ravi, who relies on the autorickshaw for his daily livelihood, was left stunned.

The incident occurred near the Sub-Urban Bus Stand, a typically busy transit hub. A complaint has been registered at the Lashkar Mohalla Police Station and investigations are underway to trace the unidentified thief and recover the stolen vehicle.

Lashkar Police said that they are reviewing CCTV footage of nearby areas to trace the auto and the thief.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

THE TRIUMPH OF DHARMA: To overcome the evil influences of this iron age Kaliyuga, people should listen to and reflect upon the great epics Ramayana and Mahabharata. Through such contemplation, their minds will become purified and their hearts inclined towards righteousness. In this context, Parimelazhagar in his commentary explains that dharma lies not only in performing the deeds prescribed in the scriptures but also in abstaining from those that are prohibited. The Ramayana exemplifies how one should follow dharma, as illustrated through the life and conduct of Rama. In contrast, the Mahabharata teaches us through the character of Duryodhana how one should not engage in deeds that are contrary to dharma.

Building upon these epic examples, Lanka Sri Jeyaraj said in a discourse that a person who indulges in unrighteous acts will inevitably be punished by nature, either in one way or the other. On the other hand, nature supports and uplifts those who engage in righteous deeds. Tiruvalluvar says just as the Sun burns the boneless worms, virtue torments the loveless one. By abducting Sita, the worm-like Ravana invited the Sun-like Rama to destroy him, an inevitable consequence of his unrighteous act. Those who walk the path of dharma live in lasting peace and happiness, for righteousness is their constant companion. The unrighteous are, however, never free from fear, for their own deeds become the source of their suffering. This contrast between righteousness and unrighteousness is also evident in the Mahabharata's key events. To uphold dharma, the Lord countered every evil scheme of Shakuni and Duryodhana, ensuring the protection and victory of the righteous. — In The Hindu

Book returned to library after 46 years!

Camden: A former Maine resident returned to the town she used to call home so she could return a library book that had been due back 46 years earlier.

Diana Edwards, a former resident of Camden, Maine, said she was packing up her books for a move from Massachusetts to New Hampshire when she came across a copy of Bunches and Bunches of Bunnies, written by Louise Mathews and illustrated by Jeni Bassett. The book had been checked out from the Camden Public Library and had a due date of Aug. 10, 1979.

Library officials said the facility no longer has late fees, but even when they were still enforced, the fines were capped at $5.

Trespassing cat: Owner penalised in France

Hérault: A French woman was shocked to learn that she had been fined €1,250 ($1,435) because her pet cat had been trespassing on her neighbour's property.

The cat owner from France's Hérault region was shocked to learn of a complaint filed by her neighbour about the cat's frequent comings and goings on their property.

In their complaint, the neighbour, whose name has not been disclosed, mentioned paw prints on the stucco, urine on a duvet and faeces in the garden as damage caused by the ginger cat, Remy. Back in January, a Court sided with the plaintiff and fined the cat's owner, Dominique, €1,250, with additional penalties should the cat cross the fence again.

Unfortunately, the story is far from over, as Dominique has been summoned to court again this coming December. Apparently, Remy crossed the infamous fence and could cost his owner an extra €2,000 ($2,300) fine and a daily penalty of €150 ($172).

VOICE OF THE READER

35 new signals: What is the purpose of a Ring Road?

Sir,

It was very disheartening to read the front-page news item titled "Outer Ring Road to get 35 more traffic signals" in SOM dated Nov. 3.

If vehicles are made to stop every kilometre on a Ring Road, what is the very purpose of having a Ring Road?

We already prefer using internal roads because of the 60 kmph speed limit and the long waiting time at existing signals.

Who gives such suggestions to the authorities?

Leave aside the drivers — even the authorities themselves do not follow lane discipline. Barricades have been placed all along the Ring Road, forcing vehicles that need to turn right (and are using the right-turn indicator) to move into the middle or even the left lane before making the turn at intersections.

Perhaps the authorities want to accumulate vehicles and release them in bunches at every signal, just to make Mysuru look busier! The Ring Road, despite having four lanes and service roads, has far too many unnecessary intersections. One hopes that someone will bring some good sense to authorities. Otherwise, Mysuru's interior roads will become even more congested as motorists start avoiding the Ring Road altogether.

Gokulam-Hunsur Road Junction needs traffic signals

Sir,

Apropos the news item "Outer Ring Road to get 35 more traffic signals" (SOM dated Nov. 3), this is indeed a commendable initiative by the authorities concerned to streamline the ever-increasing vehicular movement on the Ring Road.

It would be highly appreciated if traffic signal lights could also be installed at one of the most chaotic junctions in Mysuru — the intersection of Gokulam Road and Hunsur Road — to ease the never-ending woes of hapless motorists.

Negotiating this junction is a herculean task at any time of the day, more so during peak traffic hours. The only rule that seems to prevail here is "might is right" and motorists need exceptional skill and patience to manoeuvre through the chaos safely.

Installing a signal at this busy junction would greatly improve traffic discipline and ensure smoother and safer movement for all road users.

Combing operation

Forest personnel rescue tiger cub

Nanjangud, Nov. 6- The Forest personnel involved in combing operation to trace the elusive Tiger, after the series of three attacks reported in Sargur taluk, H.D. Kote taluk and Nanjangud taluk in the district, stumbled upon a tiger cub at Hosabeedu Kaval near Hanchipura in Nanjangud taluk yesterday evening.

Acting on the information received from the villagers, about the movement of two tiger cubs at a banana plantation in the vicinity, Forest personnel mounted on two camp elephants, with the help of a thermal drone succeeded in locating them. Forest Veterinarian Dr. Vaseem Mirza, along with Deputy Range Forest Officer (DRFO) Ranjan, who is also a sharp shooter, reached the spot. As the dart was shot at the cubs, one cub gave a slip, while another which received the dart fell unconscious. It was later captured in the net.

The cubs were found to be in distressed state, for lacking skills to hunt animals for food, especially after their mother was rescued by Forest Department recently.

It is learnt that, the rescued tiger cub, a female, aged about one-and-a-half years, is the litter of eight-year-old tigress, already rescued along with its one cub and shifted to Koorgalli Wild Animal Rescue and Rehabilitation Centre, Mysuru. This cub will be reunited with its mother, the Forest officials, who were on the operation since morning hours said. The search will be continued for another tiger cub, which escaped the dart, from today.

The same adult tigress had attacked Mahadevegowda of Badagalapura on Oct. 16, following which the tigress was rescued along with its cub, in an operation carried out by Forest personnel on Oct. 18.

Conservator of Forests (CF) and Bandipur Tiger Reserve Director S. Prabhakaran, ACFs K. Paramesh, Satish, RFO Muniraju, Vivek and Amruthesh and other officials were a part of the operation.

Rising tiger sightings:

MLA warns Forest officials

MLA Darshan Dhruvanarayan (sitting 2nd from right) chairing an emergency meeting of taluk-level officers at the Taluk Panchayat auditorium in Nanjangud recently.

Nanjangud, Nov. 6 (KS)- Nanjangud MLA Darshan Dhruvanarayan has warned Forest officials that they will be held responsible and action will be taken if any untoward incidents occur due to human-wildlife conflicts in the Nanjangud Assembly Constituency.

Chairing an emergency meeting of taluk-level officers at the Taluk Panchayat auditorium recently, the MLA said that tiger sightings have increased in several villages under the Hediyala Range and there have already been incidents of loss of life due to tiger attacks.

He cautioned that in the coming 2-3 months, more wild animals are likely to stray into human habitats in search of food and water, heightening the risk of conflict.

To prevent such incidents, he directed officials to clear bushes and tall grass in vacant areas by taking up jungle cleaning drives. He also instructed Gram Panchayat officials to promptly alert villagers whenever wild animals are sighted.

The MLA further asked the Police Department to impose prohibitory orders during combing operations to prevent crowds from gathering, as such, interference could hamper rescue efforts.

Darshan Dhruvanarayan also directed officials to take strict action against individuals spreading panic through AI-generated videos of wild animals. He instructed Tahsildar Shivakumar to establish a Control Room with a public helpline number to report sightings or emergencies.

The meeting was attended by Taluk Panchayat Executive Officer Gerald Rajesh, Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) K. Paramesh, former Taluk Panchayat President Nageshrao and officials from the Forest and other Government Departments.

Two 'shoot video' with tiger cubs in BRT; Minister orders CID probe

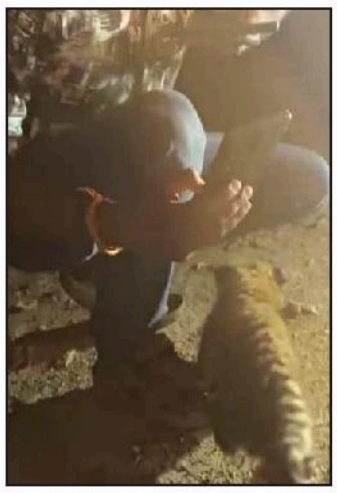
Chamarajanagar, Nov. 6- Two persons have allegedly shot a video with tiger cubs at Biligiri Rangaswamy Temple (BRT) Tiger Reserve in the district, the video of which has gone viral on social media, triggering mixed reactions.

Following the complaint in this regard, Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre has ordered for a Criminal Investigation Department (CID) probe.

On Oct. 14, three tiger cubs, separated from their mother, were spotted on Punajanur-Bedaguli Road in the district. The individuals had shot the video, after allegedly catching hold of them. They were identified as Javeed and Rafeeq of Attikan Estate, Bedaguli. The duo had allegedly shot the video on their cell phone camera, using the headlight of their jeep for proper image lighting.

As the video surfaced, social activist Dinesh Kallahalli had complained to Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre, flagging concerns about the tiger cubs.

"It is not possible to shoot such a video, without the help of Forest officials in the core area of the wild in the night hours. Why did they touch the 10-day old cubs?," asked Kallahalli, raising a moot question to Minister Khandre, for probing the incident. Following this, Minister Khandre ordered for a probe by CID.



A person seen shooting video with a tiger cub at BRT Tiger Reserve, Chamarajanagar.

According to a notification issued by Additional Chief Secretary of Forest Department, a comprehensive probe has been ordered into the incident.

This follows a complaint, in which, some among those who shot the video with tiger cubs, had links with the NGO, that is under cloud, after being booked for wildlife related criminal charges in 2015. The doubts had been raised over the survival of mother tiger, with the possibilities of killing the big cat not being ruled out.

Fake Police threat

City engineer loses Rs. 10 lakh

Mysuru, Nov. 6 (BCT)- In a shocking case of cybercrime, a Hebbal-based engineer in Mysuru (name withheld to protect identity) was duped of Rs. 10 lakh after being threatened over the phone by fraudsters impersonating Police officials.

The victim received a call from an unknown person who claimed that he was involved in illegal financial transactions. The caller further intimidated him by alleging that crores of rupees had been deposited into his bank account as part of a money laundering operation.

Panicked by the accusations, the engineer was coerced into sharing sensitive banking details. Within a short span, Rs. 10 lakh was fraudulently transferred from his account to another.

Realising he had been conned, the victim rushed to CEN Police Station and filed a formal complaint. Authorities have launched an investigation into the incident.

'Nandini' ghee becomes costlier by Rs. 90 a litre

Bengaluru, Nov. 6 (DM)- The Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF), which had reduced the prices of its various 'Nandini' brand popular Milk products only in September after the Union Government cut GST rates, has now hiked ghee and butter prices just days after Deepavali festival.

According to the revised rates which have come into immediate effect, the price of one litre packet of ghee is Rs. 700, a hike of Rs. 90 from the pre-revision price of Rs. 610. Similarly, the price of butter has been hiked to Rs. 610 per kg, a hike of Rs. 38 from the pre-revision price of Rs. 572.

While the revised price of 'Nandini' ghee has come into effect from Wednesday itself, the revised price of butter will come into effect from tomorrow (Nov. 7).

After the Union Government reduced GST rates, the KMF had cut the prices of Ghee and other Milk products by 7 percent in September. Now, the Milk Body has hiked the ghee price by 15 percent and that of butter by 6 percent.

Meanwhile, defending the price hike, KMF officials said that despite the hike, the price of Nandini ghee is less than that of other private brands. Maintaining that the prices of Nandini ghee and several other milk products have long remained less than that of the prices of other brands, they said that the hike comes after a recent meeting with the Executive Directors of all Milk Unions of the State.

DECODING MYTHOLOGY

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Kailasa in Cambodia

A few decades before the Chola king Rajaraja I built the Brihadeeswara Temple in Tamil Nadu, around 1000 AD, a Khmer king called Jayavarman IV had begun building a temple to replicate the Kailasa mountain in Cambodia, at Koh Ker, complete with a tank that would replicate the river Ganga. It followed Tantrik principles of architecture and a nearby river bed was covered with hundreds of Shiva lingas to transform the water into Ganga.

This was 200 years before the building of the now famous tourist destination Angkor Wat. The Shiva of Koh Ker is not some gentle yogi. He is a great god of kings, a god of power, a god of dominance, a Tantrik god.

Built in the 10th century CE, Koh Ker was for a brief moment the capital of the Khmer Empire before Angkor took over. Jayavarman IV was not interested in modesty; he wanted a capital that proclaimed power. So, he placed Shiva at the centre of everything. At Koh Ker, he built a massive seven-tiered pyramid called Prasat Thom.

Prasat means 'prasada' or enclosure in Sanskrit, a common term for temples. It looks nothing like the curving shikhara of Indian temples. It looks like a step-pyramid, raw and imposing, more Mayan than Indian. But on top of it stood the linga of Shiva, rising like a cosmic pillar, visible from miles around.

The message was clear: the king was Shiva's chosen, the axis of the universe had been placed in his capital and his earthly representative. This is classic Deva-raja (God-king) cult, where the god and the king merge into one cosmic being. You can see why Jayavarman IV wanted Koh Ker as his capital. It was propaganda in stone.

Shiva as an empire

Around this pyramid, the site was filled with dozens of Shiva temples. Archaeologists have counted more than 180 sanctuaries scattered across 80 square kilometres. Many shrines were built to house lingas, each named with cosmic attributes: Prasat Krahom, Prasat Pram, and so on.

The sculptures from Koh Ker are stunning. Some of the finest images of Shiva's sons, Skanda and Ganesha, come from here. The most impressive is one of Skanda seated on a peacock, a rare Cambodian image. Another famous image is of Shiva playing with baby Skanda and it is never clear if this is a representation of a god or the king. Then there are fragments of a massive five-headed, ten-armed dancing Shiva.

Many sculptures were stolen and now housed in museums around the world.

What makes Koh Ker different from Angkor Wat is that here Shiva is clearly supreme. At Angkor, you see Vishnu cults rise and later Buddhist domination. But Koh Ker is pure Shaiva power. The inscriptions are clear that Jayavarman IV's devotion was to Tribhuvaneshvara, Lord of the Three Worlds, another name for Shiva. The architecture backs this up. Every stone, wall and sanctuary announces Shaiva supremacy.

It is also worth noting how the Khmer kings reimagined Indian ideas. In India, the Shiva linga is often housed in dark sanctums. In Koh Ker, it is raised up in the open, high above on a pyramid. This is the god of kingship, not the god of hermits. Ellora's Kailasa temple is carved out of living rock, but it hides the linga in the depths of a mountain. Chidambaram in Tamil Nadu is even more distinct. Its sanctum has no linga at all but an empty space with a hanging garland, symbolising Shiva as the cosmic dancer, subtle and unseen.

Koh Ker is the opposite of both — a 36-metre-high pyramid, rough blocks stacked in the jungle, carrying a Shiva linga at the top like a flagpole of the empire.

The audacity of a king

Today, Koh Ker is mostly in ruins. Tourists still prefer Angkor Wat, but anyone who visits the former feels the raw difference. Angkor is polished grandeur, with Vishnu, Shiva and later Buddha all jostling. Koh Ker is blunt power: Shiva as an empire.

After Jayavarman IV's death, the capital shifted back to Angkor. Koh Ker was abandoned, its grand pyramid left isolated in the jungle. The colossal linga that once crowned the pyramid is gone, probably destroyed or stolen. What remains is a ghost of Shaiva power.

But sometimes ghosts are more telling than monuments. Koh Ker shows us the audacity of a king who dared to centre the cosmos on Shiva, only for history to move on.

Cheluvamba Hospital to offer affordable IVF treatment soon

Mysuru, Nov. 6 (RK&VNS) - Cheluvamba Hospital will soon set up an IVF (In Vitro Fertilisation) and Fertility Centre to benefit poor patients who are unable to afford treatment at private centres.

Considering the growing demand for IVF and fertility services, the State Government had earlier announced the establishment of such centres at four Government Medical Colleges and Hospitals across the State, including Mysore Medical College and Research Institute (MMC&RI), with the aim of addressing infertility issues among the population.

The Government has released Rs. 2.5 crore to each of the four colleges, following which work has begun at Cheluvamba Hospital. Of the total amount, Rs. 1 crore has been earmarked for human resources, Rs. 60 lakh for equipment and the remaining for civil works.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Cheluvamba Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. Sudha said that the proposal to start an IVF and Fertility Centre was submitted to the State Government two years ago, and funds were allocated in the previous budget.

"The IVF and Fertility Centre will come up on the second floor of the hospital and is expected to be operational within the next three to four months," she said, adding that the tender process for procuring necessary equipment has been initiated and operations will begin once the equipment arrives.

'Hold MCC elections soon'

Mysuru, Nov. 6 (BLU&DM)- S.R. Mahesh Asserting that the formation of Greater Mysuru Authority (GMA) would take at least two years, former Minister S.R. Mahesh has urged the Government to hold the long pending Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) elections at the earliest

S.R. Mahesh

Addressing a press meet at his office near Ramavilas Road here this morning, S.R. Mahesh said that the State Government has announced the formation of GMA more than two-and-a-half years after it was first conceived.

He maintained that with the formation of GMA, 1 City Municipal Council (Hootagalli CMC), 4 Town Panchayats (Bogadi, Srirampura, Rammanahalli and Kadakola TPs) and a few Gram Panchayats would merge with the Authority, which process will take at least two years.

"If the Government believes in decentralisation of power, then it should hold MCC elections, which is long overdue, immediately. The Government has lost Rs. 150 crore grants (Rs. 75 crore per year) of the 15th Fi nance Commission for the 2-year delay in holding MCC polls. With the formation of GMA, the city's area expands from 86 sq.kms to 333 sq.kms, an increase of 247 sq.kms with addition of a large area," he said while reiterating that the Government's intention is not to hold the MCC polls.

Asserting that the BJP-JD(S) poll alliance would continue even in Local Body polls, he said that Union Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries H.D. Kumaraswamy will take part in tomorrow's (Nov. 7) DISHA meeting in city.

Police kiosk: Devaraja Police clarify

Violation by a Government body

"The Police Department, being a Government body responsible for enforcing law and order, must lead by example in adhering to heritage norms. This installation is highly condemnable as it clearly breaches those guidelines. If kiosks are necessary, they should be temporary in nature. For permanent ones, designs and materials must conform to heritage standards," Prof. Rangaraju stated.

He further emphasised that no structure can be erected near a heritage monument without clearance from the District Heritage Committee, chaired by the Deputy Commissioner and comprising heritage experts.

"Here, the kiosk has come up within the Palace premises — Mysuru's principal heritage site — in garish colours and carrying flashy ads. Even when permission is granted, the design must blend harmoniously with the heritage architecture and use materials approved by the Committee," he added.

Newly constructed Police kiosk near Ramaswamy Circle by K.R. Police.

Citing an example of compliance, Rangaraju referred to the public toilet built near the Town Hall by the Namma Mysuru Foundation in collaboration with the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), which, he said, was constructed strictly adhering to the Town Hall's architectural style.

Devaraja Police clarify

According to sources from the Devaraja Police Station, the kiosks were planned during Dasara to assist visitors. Loudspeakers will be installed to relay information to tourists and the general public.

"We have only set up the structure now. Two Policemen will be deployed from 8 am to 11 pm to guide tourists and respond to issues such as harassment or trouble from fake guides. In such situations, visitors may not be able to reach the jurisdictional Police Station immediately, so the kiosk serves as an accessible point for assistance," an officer said.

WORD OF THE DAY

Fidelity

Pronunciation: fuh-DELL-uh-tee (noun)

Meaning: Fidelity is the quality or state of being faithful to a person, such as a partner or spouse, or a thing, such as one's country. Fidelity can also refer to accuracy or exactness in details or the degree to which an electronic device (such as a television) accurately reproduces its effect (such as sound or picture).

Origin: Fidelity came to English by way of Middle French in 15th century, and can ultimately be traced back to the Latin adjective fidēlis, meaning "faithful, loyal, trustworthy." While fidelity was originally exclusively about loyalty, it has for centuries also been used to refer to accuracy, as in "questions about the fidelity of the translation." Nowadays fidelity is often used in reference to recording and broadcast devices, conveying the idea that a broadcast or recording is "faithful" to the live sound or picture that it reproduces.

Example: "The origins of the role actually have their roots in ancient Egypt, where a young boy would be enlisted to carry rings to a couple as a symbol of love, fidelity, and fertility." — Shelby Wax, Vogue, 10 July 2025.

THE ODD WORD

Quandong

Australian tree with edible flesh and edible nutlike seed.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Let sleeping dogs lie

Meaning: The phrase 'Let sleeping dogs lie' is used to warn against stirring up trouble.

Origin: The origin of "Let sleeping dogs lie" dates back to at least the 14th century, with its earliest known appearance in English being in Geoffrey Chaucer's 1385 work, Troilus and Criseyde, in the line "It is nought good a slepyng hound to wake". The phrase evolved from a literal warning about waking a sleeping dog to a metaphorical one, cautioning against stirring up past troubles or conflicts that could cause new problems.

Example: "It's best to keep your opinion to yourself around him. Just let sleeping dogs lie."
